They serve as everything from fighter pilots to drill instructors to Army rangers. They hold nearly every role and rank in military service, including General. Yet they still have to face those who aren't quite sure they belong there, and outdated assumptions that continue to be a problem even in the year 2017.

More than 200,000 women serve our country, and we are proud to bring you their stories live tonight in our June episode of Veterans' Voices about these trailblazing heroes. Women in the military still face unique challenges while serving, and likewise in their transition back to civilian life.

In tonight's episode of "Veterans' Voices," you'll not only hear from local veterans who are launching the next phase of their lives, but we invite you to call in with your stories or questions for the panel.

Your thoughts, stories, questions and comments are always welcome during our show. You can call, email, live chat, text, or message us on social media. Join us this evening, June 19, at 7:00 p.m. for this month's edition of Veterans' Voices. We'll be broadcasting live online and airing on Contra Costa Television, CCTV.

Veterans' Voices is a joint production of the Contra Costa County Veterans Service Office and Contra Costa Television (CCTV.) It is underwritten by a grant from the California Department of Veterans Affairs. CCTV can be found on Comcast Channel 27, Astound Channel 32 and AT&T U-Verse Channel 99 throughout Contra Costa County.
